

October 2025 Grace Gems

Today marks the beginning of the tenth month in the year 2025. As we step into this new season, Summer has come to a close and Autumn has officially begun.

Let us offer a prayer:

God, we come before you with gratitude, praise, and full expectation. We thank you, Father, for carrying us through every season—through silent valleys and joyful heights. Even when we could not see your presence, you were there; even when we were weary, you sustained us and carried us forward.

With grateful hearts, we reflect on your unwavering faithfulness and the steady hand you have kept upon our lives. Your mercy has brought us to this new month, and your wisdom has guided every step. As we stand in awe of your provision, let our gratitude blossom, trusting that your plans will unfold in beauty and completion.

Just as the foliage changes its colors in autumn, we ask for renewal of our minds and hearts—beauty rising from the ashes of past seasons. Calm our minds, Lord, and grant us clarity through your Word. Give us peace, like a softly flowing river, a rhythm that resonates with heaven, as you reveal your peace, purpose, and power to us.

With so many things to do, this season will not drain us but rather strengthen us. We thank you for helping us tie up loose ends and for revealing the beauty of your holiness. May our efforts be fruitful, and peace arises from pressure, and may diligence guide our hands.

Father, continue to cover our families in love. We reject every trick and lie of the enemy, declaring their defeat.

I declare that this day is blessed, this season is protected, this year will be abundant, and our futures are secure. In The Precious Name of Jesus.

Humbly submitted,

Gloria Phillips Diggs

President Suffolk MWMW

